ATTORNEYS AT LAW

Providing the highest quality legal representation in all areas of environmental law.

Founded in 1960, Zarwin Baum DeVito Kaplan Schaer Toddy has developed a reputation for expert legal services and strong client commitment. Our team of highly skilled attorneys and dedicated support staff understands the needs of our clients and strives to meet each and every one of them.

The firm's Environmental Practice Group is led by two experienced environmental lawyers - Mark Freed and Paul Schmidt. Together, they have 30 years of environmental law experience, and almost 20 years of governmental agency experience, including counsel to the Pennsylvania Department of Environmental Protection and the Colorado Department of Public Health and Environment. Their experience is critical to the outcome of a matter, especially in an area of law with continuous changes to regulation, legislation and policy.

The Environmental Practice Group handles litigation, transactional and regulatory matters including:

Asbestos, Mold, Lead Paint
Air and Water Quality
Brownfields/Land Recycling
Environmental Clean Up
Industrial Site Remediation
Insurance Defense and Coverage
Sewage Facilities
Storage Tanks
Stormwater Management
Superfund
Toxic Tort
Transportation Spills/Releases
Waste Management
Wetlands

From individuals to Fortune 50 companies, the Group is experienced in working with parties in industrial, commercial and residential environmental matters, and navigating the regulatory maze of federal, state and local environmental issues facing individuals, developers, lenders, manufacturers, local governments, regulated entities, insurers and others.

In addition, the Firm has the ability to handle other legal matters, such as personal injury, real estate, commercial, business, corporate and more.

Our goal ~ To represent clients effectively in all matters pertaining to environmental litigation, transactions and regulatory compliance.
